

Is Aerospace and Defense currently an attractive industry for Private Equity investment?

Are conditions in the credit market negatively impacting your ability to complete acquisitions?

This Quarter's Survey

In this quarter's survey, we asked more than 100 private equity professionals two questions: 1) is Aerospace and Defense currently an attractive industry for Private Equity investment? and 2) are conditions in the credit market negatively impacting your ability to complete acquisitions?

Information regarding our surveys

Our surveys are conducted in-house by the team at Alderman & Company, utilizing our proprietary database of more than 35,000 senior executives and professionals world-wide who are associated with mergers and acquisitions in the middle market of the aerospace and defense industry.